NO VAT PRICE INCREASE FOR THE TRADE

The National Trust for Scotland has just announced that it is holding its advertised 2009 travel trade prices until 31 December 2010 with no price increase adjustment for the anticipated 17.5% VAT rate (due to come into effect from January 2010).

This means that the Trust's already excellent value-for-money Group Rates and flexible multi-day Discover Tickets will be even more attractive, saving coach and tour operators, and their clients, an extra 2.5% on every admission ticket purchased.

With the addition of Burns National Heritage Park there are now more reasons to visit National Trust for Scotland properties than ever before. Pietro Cecchini, National Travel Trade Manager, said, 'We're delighted to offer an additional saving to our trade partners and an added incentive to ensure National Trust for Scotland venues remain the quality destination of choice.'

The National Trust for Scotland offers a wealth of 4 star and 5 star visitor attractions including world-famous gardens, battlefields, industrial heritage sites, castles, palaces, mansion-houses, collections and interiors. Many venues also offer excellent coach parking, catering facilities and exclusive gift shops.
