WEDDING STATIONERY

from
Robert Smail's
Printing Works

Robert Smail's Printing Works was established as a jobbing letterpress printer in the town of Innerleithen in 1866 and is now unique within the UK for remaining in its original building, still using original equipment in the original way. It came into the care of the National Trust for Scotland in 1986 and is open to visitors on a seasonal basis. Smail's continues to operate as a working printer all year round.

Why use letterpress?

Letterpress makes a good impression on the paper, creating a high quality tactile and visual experience. The letterpress process allows printing on all types of paper and card. It works especially well on handmade and/or textured stock that is not compatible with digital printers.

Why use Smail's?

We can link your wedding stationery to your chosen wedding venue. Line-drawn motifs, crests and/or images can be included in the design.

The typesetting is done by hand and the stationery is produced on our original 1950s Heidelberg Press.

A copy is kept, as is tradition at Smail's, in a guard-book for posterity as part of the property archive.

By choosing Robert Smail's to print your wedding stationery, you are actively supporting Scotland's leading conservation charity, helping to conserve the machinery and traditional skills, and keeping letterpress printing alive.

Bespoke designs

We are very happy to work with your own designs and ideas where possible. This could include matching the ink to your wedding's colour themes, incorporating favourite images or using a commissioned illustration.

We can also utilise modern computer typefaces.

Please note that the enclosed property-specific samples and prices are a guideline only. The full portfolio of the Trust's spectacular wedding venues can be viewed at www.nts.org.uk/weddings. Guideline prices are based on stationery being printed one colour on a 300mic card with complementary envelopes.

Samples are printed on Silk or Ivory card. Stationery is printed using vegetable-based inks and all paper stock is FSC approved and/or recycled. A proof will be sent out for your approval before printing. For larger jobs a deposit may be required.

Please contact Robert Smail's directly for specific stationery design requests and pricing.
